

Anthracite $40 a Ton in Italy.
ROME, Jan. 17.—In spite of the cold weather Italy is a country almost without coal. The only smoke to be seen is that from railroad locomotives, factories and a few hotels. American coal has arrived at the seaports. On account of high freight anthracite costs more than $40 a ton.

MRS. MOHR'S DEFENSE HIT BY STORY WOMAN TELLS

Mohr's chauffeur ever talk to you about buying a motorcycle? A. Yes, early in the summer of 1915, about the time Brown came to me.

Q. Didn't you understand that Dr. Mohr would pay for Brown's motorcycle if Brown didn't? A. All the doctor said was that he'd see that I got my money. It was agreed by Brown to pay me $25 a month.

Ida Irene Brown, the aunt of Cecil

Brown, and Henry Spellman, the other accused negro, testified that on the day of the shooting of Dr. Mohr both the negroes were at her home in Providence in the morning.

Q. What were they doing there? A. Fixing the motorcycle all the forenoon in front of the house.

Q. Was George Heale there at all that day? A. Yes, he came about noon in an automobile and remained five or ten minutes.

Q. Do you know anything about a sofa pillow being used on this motorcycle? A. Yes; I saw Victor Brown strap one on the motorcycle. My son had come in to me and said they wanted a sofa pillow.

This testimony was adduced in support of the contention of the prosecution that the two negroes rode on the machine to the scene of the crime, there lying in wait for Dr. Mohr's motor car, which Heale stopped at a prearranged spot in the Nyatt road. Mrs. Brown's testimony was the first to indicate that preparations had been made the day of the murder to fit the machine to carry two passengers.

Mrs. Brown testified on cross-examination by Mr. Lewis that she saw Heale drive Dr. Mohr's car to her home the day of the murder.

Q. Didn't Victor Brown take your son, Earle Williams to a picnic on the back of the motorcycle and fixed a seat for him on the machine with a sofa pillow? A. Yes.

Q. So the day Dr. Mohr was shot was not the first time you had seen a pillow fastened to the motorcycle? A. No, not the first time.

Q. Didn't Brown and Spellman come to your house the day after the shooting? A. Yes; they played ball about the yard.

Q. Were they happy and carefree? A. Yes, my son played the piano and they sang.

Earle Williams, a hunchback, who gave his employment as "piano player," gave more details of the tinkering with the motorcycle by Brown and Spellman the day Dr. Mohr was shot. Williams testified that the two men remained at the Brown house until the afternoon.

Q. By Deputy Attorney General Phillips. What do you know about a cushion or pillow being put on the rear of the motorcycle? A. The cushions were strapped to the rear mud-guard.

Q. Did you go out on the motorcycle that day? A. Yes, with Brown, for about three-quarters of an hour. Brown drove and I sat on the cushions.

The purpose of this questioning was obviously to show that the motorcycle was capable of carrying two passengers. Williams testified that Brown and Spellman had left his mother's home together the day after the shooting.

Q. Had they mentioned the shooting of Dr. Mohr? A. I heard Brown ask Spellman if he'd heard anything about it, and Spellman spoke of the newspaper bulletin board.

Q. Was that all they said? A. Yes. CORROBORATION FOR STORY OF CONFESSION.

The prosecution produced to-day a map of the scene of the murder, and a civil engineer, Walter N. Anthony, to describe it and give the distances to the various points in the country which have been mentioned in the testimony.

William A. Burgess, a chauffeur, and George O. Moody, a Providence newspaper reporter, who accompanied Police Chief Robbins and Barrington when he took Brown and Spellman to the scene of the shooting a few days after the murder, were called to the stand after Mr. Anthony.

They corroborated Chief Robbins as to the demonstration the two negroes had made of their flight from the scene after the shooting and how they had disposed of their revolvers as they ran past Echo Lake.

Mrs. Mohr, for her two days' rest, was much less weary looking and pale when she came to court to-day. She wore the same black, crepe-trimmed dress she wore all the first week of the trial.

The most interesting witness in prospect is Miss Florence Ormsby, whose testimony will be reached in a day or two. It is expected that the evidence she will give will vitally touch the affairs of Dr. Mohr, whose office and hospital in Providence she had charge of.

The defense regards Miss Ormsby as a hostile witness, just as it so regards Miss Emily G. Burger, the physician's housekeeper, who was shot with him and has been subpoenaed as a witness for the defense.

When Miss Ormsby is placed on the stand the State's attorneys expect her to disclose a motive which played an important part in the alleged murder conspiracy. Miss Ormsby and Miss Burger probably knew more of the doctor's affairs than Mrs. Mohr, and as Mr. Lewis was prevented from inquiring of Miss Burger all about the physician's business, it is expected that Miss Ormsby will be put on the rack concerning it. Mr. Lewis says he has by no means relinquished his intention to learn something about Dr. Mohr's practice.

Mrs. Mohr will receive over $100,000 as her share of the estate. She has agreed with the other heirs that there shall be no property litigation and may receive her portion before the trial is finished.

By the agreement, Mrs. Mohr is to receive one-third her husband's estate. The remainder will be divided among her children, C. Francis Jr. and Virginia, and Dr. Mohr's children by a former marriage, Charles Manning Mohr and Mrs. Ernest Marr. No figure has been made public, but the estate is said to be valued at from $200,000 to $250,000.

Workers Barred From Factory.

Over 250 employees of a factory at Nos. 146-150 Avenue D, run by Louis Spulsky, were not permitted to go to work to-day because it is claimed the lighting does not conform to new ventilation regulations. A month ago Supreme Court Justice Plazek issued an order compelling the installation of an electric lighting system and the removal of shutters in the factory. Fire Commissioner Adelson's inspectors reported on Saturday that the system is defective. The property is owned by the D. H. McAlpin estate.

BILLIONS OF KISSES FOR 'BOO'FUL BABY' CAME BY LETTER

words and actions. Be a good, dear sweetheart to me and think of how I long to have you with me.

"Your own deserted hubby."

"JACK."

While it was not a case of "love me love my dog," Miss Clarke explained, Martin was attached to "Jim" and "Jim" was a pet bulldog she owned. He never failed to ask for "Jim."

Miss Clarke said, and in one letter Martin said:

"Remember me to 'Jim' and tell him his daddy was asking about him."

In another letter from Carlehad Martin was counting the days until he should return to his "little girl." This was the million kiss missive. He wrote in part:

"My Own Dearest Love:

"When I received your last letter in which you said my last kiss to night I left was still burning your lips, I could not sleep that night thinking and dreaming about you. I would prefer the grave rather than continue this way very long. What I have suffered since I left you you will never know, but I know I will be a hundred times over, both financially and by your dear love and affection. Be a good dear wife to me and remember how lonesome I am for you. Your own and only hubby."

"P. S. Kisses by the million X X X X X X X X X X. Dearest, if I could only kiss you now. Oh! when I think of it, my little girl."

From the Hotel Bristol in Berlin Martin wrote the following to his "little girl":

"My Own Dearest Sweetheart: "Well, I hope everything is all right and you are not worrying as I am. I am the most lonesome human being who ever lived. If you do anything wrong to me now I shall certainly give my life up in despair, as you are all I have in the world. I must love you when I ask you to be pure and virtuous. Dearest one, I have been often disagreeable and cranky with you, but it has been caused by my nervous temperament. We have been chums and companions and have shared each other's love and misfortunes for the past three and a half years. You know what I want of you and what a prize, above everything else, is a good and true woman. I can be contented with you for the rest of my life if you will only be 'My Own Little Girl.' I will forget everything from now on, even the San Francisco affair, which was a great blow to me. If I thought nothing like that would happen again I would be the happiest boy in the world."

CAUTION IN THE USE OF ANTISEPTICS IN THE MOUTH

Before leaving this phase of the subject, I cannot too strongly emphasize the inadvisability of using so-called antiseptics, antiseptic mouth washes, and antiseptic tooth-powders and pastes. Let us not forget that the majority of agents capable of exerting a detrimental action on bacteria and protozoa are also capable of exerting a like action on the delicate cells which, by their growth, union, and physiologic processes, not only form the structures entering into the make-up of animal or vegetable tissues, but carry on the life processes as well.

From the December, 1915, issue of "The Dental Cosmos," a professional magazine of high standing.

"No dentifrice can sterilize the mouth"

That statement we have consistently maintained.

The scientific truth about the ill-advised use of over-medicated dentifrices is well expressed by a high authority who spoke before the Pennsylvania State Dental Society as quoted in the above clipping.

We bring this to public notice because of the mistaken and misleading claims of some dentifrice makers who are advertising impossible germicidal and antiseptic qualities for their products. We, on the contrary, take the scientific stand that: "No dentifrice can sterilize the mouth." Such a dentifrice, as the above authority scientifically proves, would injure the mucous membrane.

Truth in Advertising Implies Honesty in Manufacture

Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream is offered to you as a safe dentifrice—one made with scrupulous care and advertised with strict regard to truth. It does the following six things and does them well.

1. Cleans thoroughly without injurious chemicals.
2. Retards the growth of decay germs.
3. Corrects an acid condition of the mouth.
4. Polishes the teeth to natural whiteness without harmful grit.
5. Leaves the mouth clean and wholesome.
6. Delights by its delicious flavor.

It is for these reasons that so many thousands of dentists regularly use and prescribe Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream. It is, in short, a Dentist's Dentifrice.
